

Quantum Control with Shaped Pulses

Yaron Silberberg

Weizmann Institute of Science, Rehovot, Israel

Shaping of femtosecond pulses has been the main tool in the field of quantum coherent control. In this talk I shall review the main achievements of this field over the last decade and the challenges it faces as it moves to intense fields and into attosecond interactions.